

CURTIS, HEINZ,
GARRETT & O'KEEFE P.C.

STEVEN W. GARRETT PRINCIPAL

Steve concentrates his practice in local government law, real estate and construction law, employment law, and complex litigation and appeals.

BACKGROUND

A native St. Louisan, Steve received his bachelor's degree from the University of Missouri – St. Louis and his law degree from St. Louis University School of Law. He is licensed to practice in the state of Missouri, the U.S. District Courts - Eastern and Western Districts of Missouri, and the U.S. Court of Appeals – Eighth Circuit.

LAW PRACTICE

Steve currently serves as the city attorney for the cities of Normandy, Northwoods, St. Ann, Town and Country, and Velda City, Missouri. He is the zoning attorney for the City of Jonesburg, Missouri.

From 1979 – 1982, Steve served as Assistant Attorney General where he briefed and argued numerous cases before all of the courts of appeals in Missouri, including the Missouri Court of Appeals Eastern, Southern, and Western Districts, the Missouri Supreme Court and the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals. He has written numerous briefs and petitions in the U.S. Supreme Court. Steve has also written papers and articles and given lectures in the areas of municipal and election law throughout the country.

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

Steve is passionate about his community and is an active participant, serving on the board of the Manchester and Ellisville Athletic Association. A fan of the Northwest, Steve and his wife spend vacation time in Reno, Nevada, and his bucket list includes attending the legendary “Burning Man” in that part of the country. Once an avid golfer, he's traded in his clubs for several motorcycles, which is his new favorite past time (although skiing remains high on his list).
